Full Professor of Pharmaceutical Engineering

Applications are invited for a permanent post of a Full Professor of Pharmaceutical Engineering within UCD School of Chemical and Bioprocess Engineering.

The UCD School of Chemical and Bioprocess Engineering invites applications for a Full Professor of Pharmaceutical Engineering position under the Senior Academic Leadership Initiative (SALI) Call 2020, in line with the requirements set out in the Higher Education Authority (HEA) Call document.

The Senior Academic Leadership Initiative gives priority to highly qualified female candidates within the boundaries of what is legally permissible, in order to address their underrepresentation; preferential consideration of female candidates is excluded if other reasons worthy of legal protection, prevail. In exceptional circumstances, candidates who are in a minority or protected under Irish social legislation, or who also belong to an underrepresented minority in academic posts may be approved if the institution can clearly articulate reasons worthy of legal protection as to why they should be considered.

More information about the objectives of the SALI Initiative can be found under the section covering

"Further Information for Candidates" below, and also at:

hea.ie/funding-calls/senior-academic-leadership-initiative

IMPORTANT NOTE: All applicants considering the above opportunity are asked to pay close attention and to adhere to the specific requirements outlined in 'Further Information for Candidates (Application Procedures)' section of the Job Description for this post

The School has a long and distinguished international track record of achievement across major fields of research. Bio/Pharmaceutical Engineering research has been a strength of the school for over 40 years and staff have published extensively in the leading journals in the field, participated in international networks and a range on industry collaborations and have formed spin-out companies such as APC and BioSimulytics.
